Trees For Tomorrow was founded as an independent, nonprofit organization in 1944 by a group of Wisconsin paper and electric utility companies for the purpose of reforesting northern Wisconsin, and educating landowners and citizens about sustainable management.

Today, Trees For Tomorrow is a leading natural resources speciality school that promotes sustainable management of our natural resources through transformative educational experiences.

This year marks our 75th anniversary. Forest Fest is an annual event that celebrates all the forest has to offer. Attendees learn about the heritage and legacy of Wisconsin's timber industry, and modern day techniques and equipment through demonstrations, exhibits and hands-on activities.
